

Ekaterina Arshavskaia

Email: arshavskaiae@u-shizuoka-ken.ac.jp

Education:

2018 Hiroshima University Graduate School of Social Sciences (M.A)

2022 Hiroshima University Graduate School of Social Sciences (ABD (Ph.D))

Employment:

2020-present University of Shizuoka, Language and Communication Research Center,
Full-time Lecturer

2017-2020 Hiroshima University, Writing Center, Tutor

2017-2020 Shinkawa Sensor Technology, Business English Instructor

2018 Kinki University (Higashi-Hiroshima campus), English Instructor

Journal Articles:

Arshavskaia E. Comparison of Russia's mages expressed in Japanese newspapers during LDP and DP periods. IEICE technical report 117(439), 15-19, 2018.

Arshavskaia E. Russia-related Discourses in Japanese newspapers in the 21st Century: Analysis of Big News events. Kokusainihonbunkakenkyu №2, Takushoku University, 95-118, 2019.

Conference Presentations:

Arshavskaia E. Comparison of Russia's mages expressed in Japanese newspapers during LDP and DP periods. IEICE, 2018.

Arshavskaia E. Russia-related Discourses in Japanese newspapers in the 21st Century: Analysis of Big News events. Symposium on International Research of Japanese Culture, Takushoku University, 2018.

Arshavskaia E. The Variety of Discourses in Russia-related Topics of Editorial Explanation Part (shasetsu) of the Major Japanese Newspapers in the 21st Century. The 10th East Asian Conference on Slavic Eurasian Studies, 2019.

Sybing R., Arshavskaia E., Kawamoto Y. Change and Adaptation: Professional Development in University Writing Centers. 12th Symposium on Writing Centers in Asia: Opportunities and Challenges for Writing and Writing Centers, 2020.

Arshavskaia E., Fujimori A. The role of L2/L1 translation in teaching reading. JACET Chubu Chapter The 1st Annual Convention 2021.

Workshops:

2019 Qualification Program for QTA (Qualified Teacher Assistants), Hiroshima University Teaching Assistant Support Desc

2019 Teaching Academic Writing (Adina Staicov, Ekaterina Arshavskaia), 9th Hirodai Teaching Assistant Open Seminar