

Name:

ITO, Junko

Department/Title:

Assistant Professor, Department of Nursing, University of Shizuoka

Office:

Office No. 408, Education Wing of the USJC

Telephone/fax: +81-54-202-2644

E-mail: junkoito (insert "@") u-shizuoka-ken.ac.jp

Educational background:

March 2009: Completed master's program in nursing, Graduate Hamamatsu University
School of Medicine

Academic degree:

2009: Master of nursing science, Graduate Hamamatsu University School of Medicine

Area of Specialization:

Public health nursing

Subjects Taught:

Practical training (public health nursing; advanced nursing)

Research themes:

Development of nursing intervention program to promote agentic prevention activities at super aged residential communities

Development of simulation-based skill building program for public health nursing managers

Development of intervention program on health disparity among children utilizing cognitive bias effects

Academic society membership:

- Japan Academy of Public Health Nursing
- Japanese Society of Public Health
- Japanese Creativity Society

Professional background:

Hamamatsu University School of Medicine

Seirei Christopher University

Research publications:

Factors associated with mothers' awareness of receiving childcare support from fathers.

Master's thesis (2009)

My policies on education and research:

The 18th century Japanese physician Kaibara Ekiken, in his classic Edo-period treatise Yojo-kun, extolled the virtue of harmony in health maintenance. Inspired by this philosophy, I am committed to approaching all my educational and research activities with a sense of right balance, enjoyment, and creativity.